

Call to Action – Draft IFPMA Statement

The biopharmaceutical industry has a deep sense of the enormous responsibility on us to marshal our collective expertise in unprecedented level of partnership to find a solution to Covid-19. We stand ready to step up what we are already doing and bring immediately to this partnership our unique knowledge and expertise in the discovery and development of medicines and vaccines, the build-up of manufacturing capacity and distribution networks. Today scientists in the public and private sector hold the keys to our common goal of swiftly ending the COVID-19 pandemic. We will only succeed together and with the support of many others who can take bring the science to everyday solutions. As IFPMA, we are proud to be part of this landmark global partnership and fully committed to its goal to accelerate development, production and equitable global access to safe, quality, effective, and affordable COVID-19 therapeutics and vaccines and to ensure that in the fight against COVID-19, no one is left behind.
